

SPECIALIST MARKET INTELLIGENCE (m/w/d)

YOUR TASKS

- Supporting the European and regional organization in understanding market, customer and competitive dynamics and developing appropriate strategies and added values to maximize our chances of success.
- Driving cultural change by putting data at the center of all discussions and embedding a data-driven decision-making culture that establishes data driven analytics in the organization.
- Researching key information on customers, markets and competitor developments through individual research of external databases, desk research and via our internal network within the broad set of businesses we serve, primarily focusing on the independent aftermarket.
- Maintaining, updating and further developing databases and models for market analysis, monitoring and deriving actionable insights for different stakeholders, senior management and the board. Ensuring that relevant communication and visualizations are built.
- Understanding market trends and model quantitative market scenarios based on current global developments and deriving business impacts.
- Collaborating closely and working jointly in a semi-virtual setting with colleagues and leaders cross-functionally across other business units and regions in an international environment.
- Communicating insights and their implications in a precise way, both in written and verbal form to stakeholders, senior management and the board.

YOUR PROFILE

- Bachelor/Master degree or 5 years experience in the field of market research
- Ideally several years of experience in the independent aftermarket
- Excellent analytical skills: Ability to analyze complex numerical and verbal data sets and produce easily understandable tables/reports to support business needs.
- Expert skills in MS Office and data mining tools
- Good presentation skills and knowledge of storytelling
- Strong verbal & written communication in English language
- Structured, organized and a process orientated approach to work
- Good sense of ownership and ability to deliver on target
- Ability to work autonomously and proactively, with top-line guidance from direct leadership
